

Entrepreneur Development Network (EDN) Comprehensive Disclaimer of Liability

EDN's on-going mission is to support new and aspiring entrepreneurs through educational training, business plan development courses and business incubation services. EDN is committed to its LEARN, LAUNCH, RUN and GROW initiatives to assure the success of its participants.

EDN believes in the abilities and potential for excellence of all its students, alumni and incubator participants. However, EDN does not have factual knowledge or any ability to control the business operations of the vast number of individuals and organizations encountered while implementing its mission. The daily business procedures and quality controls for products and services offered by students, alumni, incubator businesses or facilitators are not governed by any contractual obligations imposed by EDN. As such, it is impossible for EDN to make any specific representation as to the fitness, ability, or character of any of the individuals or businesses with whom EDN interacts.

EDN expects and advises you to use sound judgment and due diligence in all your business decisions. This disclaimer notice urges you to be mindful that it is your responsibility to exercise consumer caution, care and reasonable scrutiny when choosing to engage services or purchase products from any business associated with EDN as well as any business in general.

With this notice, you hereby acknowledge that engaging services or use of products of any individual or business associated with EDN by virtue of its LEARN, LAUNCH, RUN and GROW service initiatives is exclusively at your own risk. EDN cannot and does not guarantee any specific results.

Endorsements

Any reference made to products or services provided by an EDN student, alumni, incubator business, facilitator, or friend made by an EDN executive, personnel, affiliate or representative does not constitute or imply EDN's endorsement, recommendation, or favoring of the same. The views and opinions of EDN executives, personnel, affiliates or representatives may not be construed legally as an express endorsement. Any such statements merely express an opinion as to EDN's individual and unique experience with a particular product or service provider. Such statements do not represent or guarantee the outcome for you or any individual or organization.

EDN is held harmless—Indemnification

EDN is not responsible for researching or enforcing the specific industry rules or state and/or Federal laws that may apply to activities associated with business operations of its students, alumni, incubator businesses, facilitators, or representatives. In no event shall EDN be liable for any special, incidental, indirect or consequential damages of any kind due to any conduct, misconduct, breach, omission, content, information, services or products offered by its students, alumni, incubator businesses, facilitators or associates. Further, EDN shall not be liable criminally at law, in tort or under any other legal theory for damages of any kind as a result from interaction with any person, resource, service or product, made accessible to you via EDN.